

Erlanger Medical Center
Research Director, Emergency Medicine
UT Chattanooga College of Medicine
Phone: 423-778-4622
E-mail: francis.fesmire@erlangers.org

om it may concern,

Jesse Wright was charged with multiple violations last night in an attempt to get his wife bacelar to our emergency room in a timely fashion. I was the emergency physician who or Aline in our emergency department. Aline has a heart condition which predisposes her clots in her heart which can lead to strokes. As Jesse is an employee in our emergency ment, he is acutely aware that therapies for acute stroke are most effective the earlier that ent is initiated as every minute counts due to the speed that brain cells died. Had Jesse an ambulance, there would have been a delay of at least 20-30 minutes prior to Aline g at our emergency department (and possibly longer).

I am glad to report that Aline is doing well and her stroke symptoms have resolved. I like to request that you show Jesse some leniency in regards to the charges of 1) assault on e officer, 2) reckless endangerment, 3) disorderly conduct, 4) reckless driving, 5) two of red light violation, and 6) registration violation due to the unique circumstances.

ply,

s M. Fesmire, MD, FACEP